

Links and partnerships

The Royal Life Saving Society has developed important partnerships and alliances within industry and the education community. This has seen structured career paths developed by industry and a more proactive approach to training in the recreation community.

Specialised training in the area of aquatic operations and supervision ensure well qualified staff in the field. Opportunities to maintain this skills are critical to manage the risk in aquatic environments. The Society is well placed to ensure staff maintain existing qualifications by providing regular re-qualifying sessions.

With a long history of community involvement the Society will continue to assist and provide training that one day may help you Save a Life.

The Royal Life Saving Society SAVING LIVES IN THE COMMUNITY

MISSION - “To prevent the loss of life and injury in the community with emphasis on aquatic environments”

Community Focused Training

The Royal Life Saving Society has been delivering aquatic based education programs since 1884. This commitment to the community continues today with a wide range of training and education opportunities for Western Australia.

The delivery of these Life Saving programs underpins the Royal Life Saving Mission Statement and intent. The Royal Life Saving Society has a very clear regional focus and takes great pride in its delivery to remote regions across the length and breadth of the state.

With changes to lifestyle and the work environment, individuals and groups must be able to provide those critical Life Saving skills when required to do so.

Be it in the home or in the workplace, there is a training opportunity for everyone to better equip themselves to face a life threatening emergency.

Over many years of consultation and research Royal Life Saving has developed a broad range of education materials and resources.

These materials have clearly established the Society as the primary Water Safety and Education organisation in Australia and a world leader in resource development.

We are here to help Regional WA

The Society has worked hard to provide opportunities for the community to enroll into Vocational Education and Training courses and receive a nationally recognised qualification in the area of Sport and Community Recreation.

These programs are delivered across the state and the Society has strong links in rural Western Australia. Subsidised training programs are delivered in remote locations such as:

The Pilbara

The Gascoyne

The Goldfields

The Kimberley's

The Wheatbelt

The South West

The Great Southern

Royal Life Saving has a commitment to ensuring regional communities have access to affordable training programs. Each year Royal Life Saving provides approximately $30,000 in financial assistance to ensure that Lifesaving Training programs are delivered into regional Western Australia.
